Sir:

The present Substitute Specification is being filed in response to the November 26, 2004 Office Action in which the Examiner alleges that the Reply filed on September 21, 2004 is not fully responsive to the prior Office Action being that a required Substitute Specification has not been submitted. Particularly, the Examiner alleges that the originally filed specification is "replete with errors in English Idiom" and as such can only "be understood by person of ordinary skill in the art by carefully re-reading many sections of the text".

Filed on even date herewith is a Substitute Specification wherein the specification was amended to correct minor errors grammatical and editorial in nature discovered upon review. Entry of the Substitute Specification is respectfully requested.
